

Privacy Policy

The information collected from this website will be used to send you the information you have requested and to provide information that may be useful to you.

We may share non-sensitive data about our website visitors' traffic patterns with our partners or other parties. However, please be assured that we do not sell or share any information about individual users.

Stored Cookies

We use cookies on this website. This ensures that on subsequent visits, if the cookie has not been deleted, users will not be asked to re-enter their details. Cookies are small pieces of information that are stored on your computer and do not compromise your privacy or security.

The cookie information collected does not include any of your personal data such as name, address, or email. Most browsers are initially set up to accept cookies. If you would prefer to turn cookies off, please refer to your specific Internet browser for instructions.

Google Analytics

We use Google Analytics on this website. This is provided by Google, Inc.

Google Analytics uses "cookies", to help the website analyse how users are using the website. The information generated by the cookie about your use of the website will be transmitted to and stored by Google. For further information, please refer to Google.

Your Rights

Your personal data is protected in the UK by the Data Protection Act. This provides amongst other things that the data we hold about you should be processed lawfully and fairly. It should be accurate, relevant and not excessive. It should be kept securely to prevent unauthorised access by other people. You have the right to see what is held about you. Please contact StarTraq (UK) Ltd for further information.

Security

StarTraq (UK) Limited treats all the data held within their databases securely. Any details you give will remain completely confidential and never sent out to third party companies.

Policy changes

There are no policy changes currently (Date posted: 25 May 2012).